HYACINTHS

BULBOUS IRIS

No finer cut flower is offered to the trade today than the bulbous irises—Tingitana Hybrids, Dutch, Spanish, and English. They are phenomenal keepers and shippers. They bloom at a time of year when flowers are in demand at good prices. Under glass, the Tingitana Hybrids have been brought into bloom in December and January, and the newest varieties of Dutch Iris have been but slightly tardy in similar performance. In the Puget Sound region outside blooms are from April on.

Those who are familiar with only the Spanish iris will marvel at the size and substance of the Dutch. Each season, new and finer varieties are being introduced that show earlier blooming, increased size, better form, and more wonderful coloring.

The Spanish and English Irises prolong the outside period of bloom from May to July.

First and second size bulbs produce marketable flowers. For forcing we recommend No. 1 size.

TINGITANA HYBRIDS (Very Early)

NARCISSI

Conclusive proofs have shown that not only are well grown Puget Sound narcissus bulbs equal to the best of imported stock, but that they are better forcing bulbs, coming into bloom often several weeks earlier than Holland grown stock. Our growers are producing the finest bulbs in size, appearance and blooming qualities with which the trade has had experience. While other sections of the country may have had difficulty in growing bulbs of high quality such as the trade demands, it must be borne in mind that the climate of the Puget Sound region is peculiar unto itself and furnishes that mild, moist growing condition under which the narcissus naturally thrives.
